Galen had a cold so we had to meet the day after for our meeting.

Notes on DnD website

Questions - Multi page website, each page being a different generation/ edition of the game.

Have each page be separate so people can go to the edition they are interested in. Having a tab at the top to help with navigation.

Find some references of websites that have taken things that looks like books and integrated them online.

Aesthetic looking like the books but without being so bound to that idea that it just looks like a page that looks like a book.
